Tutoring Experience

With over a decade in test prep, I've supported students in achieving top scores for SAT and ACT exams, equipping them with essential skills for US university admissions. My background from King's College London and Edinburgh gives me a strong foundation to help students excel in critical sections.

Beyond admissions tests, I have extensive experience with A-Level and GCSE Maths curriculums, guiding students through challenging topics and building their confidence for exams. My approach has consistently led to successful results, with students reaching their highest academic aspirations.
